

Video understanding testing questions:

- A. 'Legalese' refers to the type of technical legal jargon often used in contracts T/F
- B. To draft a contract from nothing/from "scratch" means to use a boilerplate contract T/F
- C. Hereby means "in this document" T/F
- D. Thereinafter and thereafter can be used interchangeably T/F
- E. Hereunder or hereinunder means "in the later part of this document" or "under the terms of this agreement" T/F